

ABSTRACT

A method for providing and sending advertisement information via satellite wave or terrestrial radio wave, receives history information from the 5 broadcasting receiver terminal having the advertisement information which has been played, and calculates the advertisement charge to be paid by a commercial sponsor.